

Spring 2008 Training Courses

HDPE Piping with Practical Applications for Trenchless Technologies

Wednesday, February 6, 2008
Jeff Nixon Development Center - Portland Water District
Portland, ME
8:30 A.M. ~ 3:30 P.M.
(Sign-in begins at 8:00 A.M.)

PART 1 In the past the only way to install or rehabilitate an existing pipeline was to dig and replace. Worldwide trenchless technologies are becoming the preferred method for installing and rehabilitation of water, sewer, storm, electrical, gas, and other utility lines. In the Northeast many successful projects have been completed eliminating disruption to the public, reducing impact on the environment, and often reducing cost. This session will discuss how the use of trenchless technologies such as HDD (horizontal directional drilling), pipebursting, sliplining, and other methods may help your utility or municipality.

PART 2 HDPE or High Density Polyethylene pipe is used worldwide for water, sewer, gas and other utilities. This technical session will have speakers representing different manufacturers and distributors that will explain the proper installations and characteristics of HDPE piping systems. An overview of the fusion process to connect the pipes will be done in a live demonstration.
